

THE WASHINGTON RIOT.

How the Radicals of the Capital "Rejoiced" in their Victory.

The Negroes, Armed with Clubs, Pistols, Knives, and Razors, March Through the Streets Yelling "For Grant and Colfax."

They Rally at the Sound of Horns, and Defy the Police.

White Men are Knocked Down, Kicked, Beaten, and Cut with Razors.

Drug Stores, Restaurants, and Grocery Stores Attacked and their Contents Destroyed.

Private Residences Assailed and their Doors and Windows Demolished with Stones.

Negro Jubilee.

In his Wednesday's letter to the Philadelphia Press, John W. Forney says of the election of Bowes and Grant, "that the negroes 'rejoiced' over the event."

Mr. Bowes's success, even by so small a majority, was a national achievement. It was not arrived at by the entire colored race, but by the support of great efficiency by an immense body of the white citizens, who knew his worth and believed him to be the best man for the place. His friends, however, the colored voters are naturally much elated over his election; and it is in them that the negroes "rejoiced" over Monday night's election over their gods, fortune, or Tuesday.

White patronage of any kind, without money, was not to be had; and when they, and loaded down with the terrible dependency produced by the acquisition of Anselma, were left entirely upon the contest with nothing to sustain but their own devotion to the cause, the negroes had a good right to rejoice over a hard-won field, in the Republicans of the South. The following extract from the National Intelligence of Thursday show in what manner the radicals "rejoiced" over their good fortune. It must indeed have been exceedingly "interesting":

BLOODY RESULTS OF RADICALISM.

The wicked conspiracy to hand together the negroes in this city and of the Southern States against the white race, has resulted, as we have all along predicted, in scenes of bloodshed, disorder, and death. If ever, before, known in this community, Efforts have been made by radical leaders to incite the negroes to burn, to rob, to murder, and to rape. But let us have a good right to rejoice over a hard-won field, in the Republicans of the South.

*Special Dispatch to the Louisville Journal.

WASHINGTON, June 6.

The Senate to-day engaged on the omnibus bill. The House will yield in the Arkansas matter. That State will be admitted under the original Bill, with very slight modifications. Alabama will then take a foremost place in the discussions.

WHISKY.

The nosing committee has lost eight entirely of the impeachment question. Whisky is now its specialty. Witnesses are being examined on that fruitful subject to the exclusion of Senatorial corruption.

THE RADICAL CAMP.

It is said by radicals who ought to know that General Grant is by no means gaining in grace with the ultra wing of his party. The breach between him and Butler is widening every day. Grant does not hesitate to say his private friends that Butler is disgruntling the private members of the party, and to stigmatize his conduct in the same manner. Butler, on the other hand, openly declares Grant to be a dead weight. Old Thad Stevens has literally played out. Colfax is the mediator in these differences. But for his talents at compromising personal and party differences, there would have been an explosion now. There is no doubt that Butler is playing a deep game against Grant, much reason to doubt that Grant fully comprehends the nature of the case. He considers his course in New England as Butler's doing. On the other hand, he recently met the Massachusetts wire-puller on the avenue and refused to speak to him. Colfax is very active. He writes letters at the time that he is not making unfair decisions in the house, and generally makes himself useful and serviceable.

AN IRISH TREAT.

Charles Sumner is becoming more and more melancholy and moody. He is very discontented with the attitude of the Republican party. Just now he is said to be studying an able and elaborate speech on China, prepared for him by his friend Mr. Burlingame. It is said that his domestic prospects are somewhat improved.

PRESIDENTIAL TALK.

Gen. Frank Pierce is very warmly in favor of the nomination of Hancock for the Presidency, and has written several letters to his friends in the South, urging them to join in sending delegations to the Fouth of July convention so instructed.

Young Adams, of Massachusetts, will be the favorite of New England for the Vice-Presidency. Stanbury, however, begins to be spoken of for President, and the movement may ripen into something tangible in connection with the second place on the ticket. Grosbeck is also named for Vice-President.

A NOBLE KENTUCKIAN.

A friend of Mr. Burlingame, who knows his movements, relates the radical idea that he has ever taken of Metcalf's money. He will be in Canada next month. It is believed that the President will send him word to come home, with a promise of protection in case the radicals try to persecute him. Oscar Burbridge is a Treasury Agent in Europe, and, no doubt, this vague similitude of name suggested the original reference.
